WWP News & Media: Veteran Group Outings, Charity Events, Helping Vets

Local Veteran Appears on 'Dr. Phil'

Episode Focuses on Warrior Recovery with Help From Veterans Charity

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 18, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- He survived a helicopter crash, and nowFlorida veteran Mark Lalli is sharing his story this week with Dr. Phil.

On the show, airing Wednesday (check local listings: https://www.drphil.com/local-listings), Mark tells Dr. Phil about how his life changed after surviving the crash and how he met with someone from Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) almost immediately after the crash to aid in his recovery.

"Without that conversation, and the continued support of Wounded Warrior Project, I'm not sure where I would be today," Mark said.

Mark credits WWP in his recovery and withhelping him become a mentor to other injured veterans Mark also met his wife.

Margo, at a WWP event. She joined the show remotely while staying home with the couple's young twins.

WWP Vice President of Independence Services and Mental Health Programs Lt. Col. (Ret.)Mike Richardson joined Mark on the show to talk about how the organization tailors its programs to meet the challenges warriors face. He also explained how veterans get free help for post-traumatic stress and traumatic brain injury.

Warriors never pay a penny for WWP programs - they paid those dues on the battlefield. WWP's free services in mental health, career counseling, and long-term rehabilitative care change lives. Support veterans at https://wwp.news/Donate.

About Wounded Warrior Project

Since 2003, Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) has been meeting the growing needs of warriors, their families, and caregivers – helping them achieve their highest ambition. Learn more: http://newsroom.woundedwarriorproject.org/about-us.

SOURCE Wounded Warrior Project

For further information: Rob Louis - Public Relations, rlouis@woundedwarriorproject.org, 904.627.0432

Additional assets available online: Photos (1)

https://newsroom.woundedwarriorproject.org/2018-12-18-Local-Veteran-Appears-on-Dr-Phil