Wounded Warrior Project Announces Second Phase of 2021 Veterans Service Organization Partnerships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- As part of its ongoing investments in best-in-class partner organizations, Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) announced community partnership grants to 32 veteran and military service organizations. Among the organizations receiving grants, eight are first-time recipients. WWP's support helps ensure that injured veterans and their families have access to a network of life-changing resources and support and thrive long term after their transition to civilian life and throughout their lives.

"Our partnerships with other organizations are vital to building strong, resilient veteran families and communities," said WWP CEO Lt. Gen. (Ret.) Mike Linnington. "We are stronger together, capable of doing more to support those we serve."

WWP's investment of more than $6.6 million will complement WWP's programs and services by supporting:

- brain and mental health
- suicide prevention
- specialized resources for women veterans
- whole health and wellness programs
- financial wellness resources
- connection opportunities for warriors and their families
