"Wounded Warrior Project is proud and honored to stand with these organizations to help enhance quality of life for wounded veterans and their families across the nation," said WWP CEO Lt. Gen. (Ret.) Mike Linnington. "We must work together as a community to ensure veterans' and their families' needs are met when and where they arise. Together, we provide a continuum of support for veterans at home, work, and in their communities."

The investment of more than $4.5 million will complement WWP's programs and services by supporting organizations that focus on:

- Brain and mental health
- Community integration
- Caregiver support
- Whole health and wellness
- Financial wellness
- Housing insecurity and wraparound services
- Family resiliency and connection opportunities
